The Reading Chair

In 1953, Finn Juhl designed this simple yet impeccably designed and visually pleasing chair. Perfectly suited for private homes, hotels, restaurants, and conference facilities alike, the Reading Chair exemplifies unpretentious elegance. Manufactured in oak, it features a back piece of oak and walnut or comes in a fully black painted version, as well as an option in light ash wood. The seat can be upholstered in either textile or leather. Additionally, a version of the chair with a veneered seat is also available.
